

FOOD STUDIES 11/12

Credits: 2

Food Studies 11/12 will review basic cooking skills, understanding recipes and food safety. It will also challenge students to experiment with designing multi-course meals and more complicated dishes such as making homemade pasta and baking and decorating cakes. Students will have the opportunity to cook for school events as well as visit a restaurant, cooking school and/or a food market. Students will explore ideas about food justice, food traditions and food marketing. Students may take this course in both grade 11 and 12.
